The Temescal Canyon trail features the best of both ocean and canyon views. This is a popular urban hike because of the proximity to the city- The trailhead is located off of Sunset Blvd in Pacific Palisades at the Temescal Gateway Park. Starting from LA county, the trail enters Topanga State Park.

Along the way, you will be greeted by views of Malibu, Santa Monica mountains and Downtown. There is lots of shade near the waterfall, which is often small, but beautiful. Many beautiful flora can be seen at the appropriate times of the year and there are some cool rock formations to climb on such as Skull Rock. The canyon is wooded and provides shade however there are some no-shade parts of this trail where the trail is exposed.

On a clear day at the summit, you may be able to see the San Gabriel Mountains to Catalina. Dogs are only allowed at the bottom of the canyon but not on the full trail. less
